i alone
can do nothing.
i am a fragment;
a part of the whole.
alone i am powerless; bereft of movement. yet united with others similar to myself
(yet distinct in themselves)
i am capable of deeds unthought of,
and of feats undreamed of . . .
i am personal inspiration; a spark that starts the gears turning,
the shaft spinning,
and the wheels rolling . . .
the force of human movement . . .
each individual in unison with the whole.
this is the stuff of which man is made . . .

. . . because I am involved in mankind.

For Whom The Bell Tolls

No man is an island entire of itself. Every man is a piece of the continent, a part of the main. If a clod be washed away by the sea, Europe is the less, as well as if a promontory were, as well as if a manor of thy friends or of thine own were. Any man's death diminishes me, because I am involved in mankind. Therefore never send to know for whom the bell tolls. It tolls for thee.

John Donne

To Debbie my

Everyday we are involved.

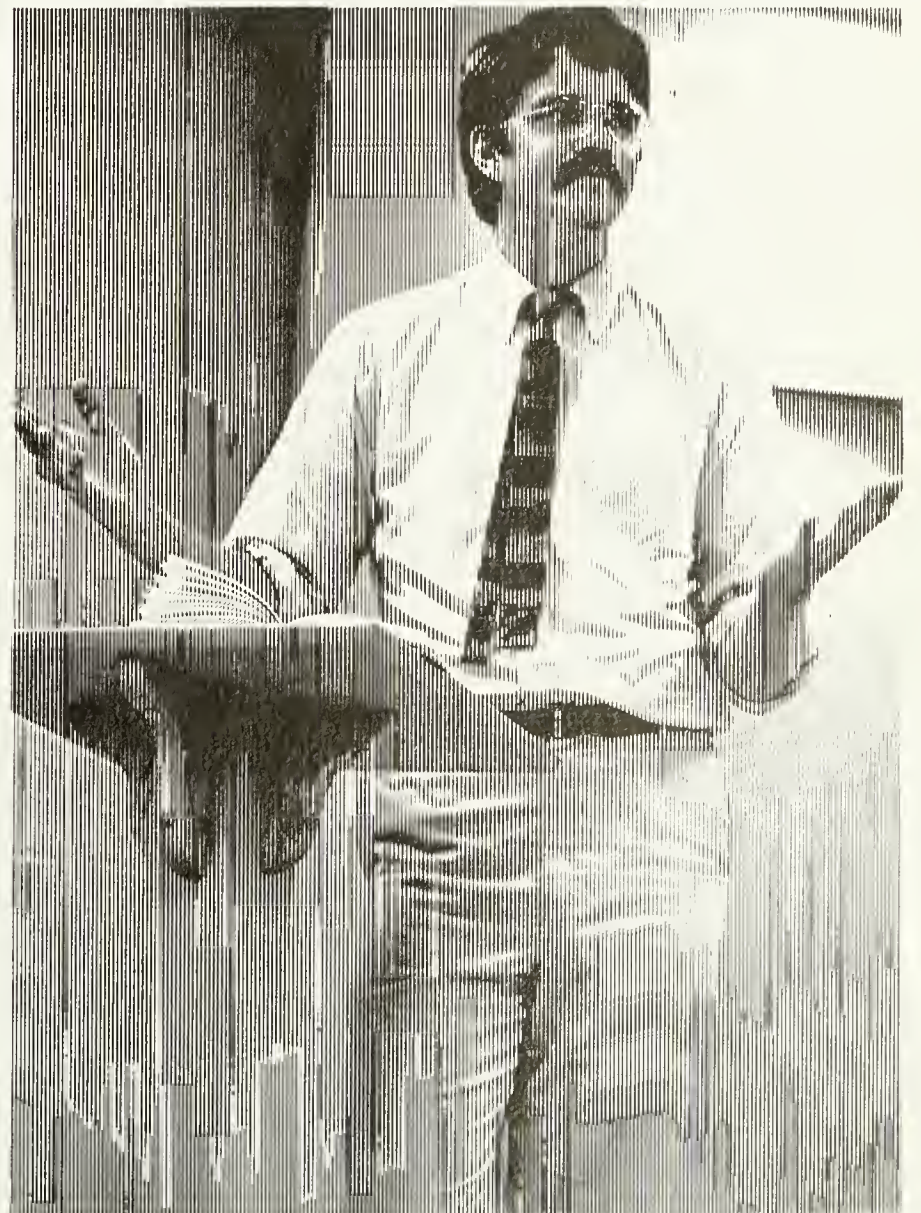

For the students and faculty, this year has been the end of the beginning. With construction fast becoming a thing of the past, or at least not of the future, we have turned our eyes to other things.

Together we have turned the concept on which Hayfield was founded into a reality. The subschool system has worked, and though we still have our "student numbers," there is a feeling of individuality which comes from being called by your own first name.

Our newness can no longer be an excuse. We are expected to be the best and, . . . we have triumphed.

Handy
David
We work . . .

... together!

We won the football game last night! It was a group endeavor. Sure there were those eleven guys out on the field. They handled the ball. They scored the touch downs, but didn't the cheerleaders and drill team also play a part? And that spirited bunch up in the stands, they had their role. "Everybody" didn't cheer with one voice. We were individuals. Everybody on the football team didn't throw that long bomb in the third quarter, but they all had their job. Who can say that the interior linemen weren't just as important as the quarterback or the ends? Each man had his own role of immense importance. If anyone had fallen down on the job, we wouldn't have succeeded, but none could have pulled it off by themselves. It took the team, the whole group, everybody . . .

STUDENT LIFE

Throughout this year at Hayfield everyday activities have played a large part in the students' education. There are those things that just cannot be taught in a classroom. These things can only be learned through experience and each day is crowded with enough experiences for everybody. Some teach us to be ourselves, our own men; others go only to strengthen the ties that bind us together in a cooperative unit, a moving, striving whole.

Sports

The crowd, the cheerleaders, the teams; this is sports. The whole group working together. It can not be done any other way.

Any member of the team may be a star, but without all the other team members he would be nothing. Working, striving, straining, pushing right next to each other, as a unit, is the only way to function efficiently.

Each man has his own job, and this job must be carried out. Each person as an individual surging force, with another being, similar to himself, driven toward the same goal, makes a team.

This is sports!

CROSS COUNTRY

Hayfield's first year of varsity cross country competition was perhaps the most vital it will ever have. It takes many years of hard and dedicated work to build a good team, and in this, the first year, we have taken the first step in that direction. A fall schedule composed of dual, triangular, district and invitational meets enabled our first cross country team to gain valuable experience for the years ahead.

You might ask what it's like to run cross country. If you like to run and have a fierce desire to better yourself and to win, then this is your sport. Cross country can be a valuable sport to anyone because it increases one's endurance. Fifteen boys competed during last fall's season and many of them went on to make excellent progress towards our winter and spring track teams.

Hayfield's first year of Winter Track competition was irregular due to unfavorable weather conditions. The season was highlighted by four big meets. Its main purpose is to train athletes for Spring Track. The boys who participated in this sport had much to gain on the way to Spring Track.

"Before and . . ."

Hayfield has gone through another year of sharing gyms with other schools and always being the guest. Towards the end of February we were proud to be able to open the doors of our gym to other schools from the state of Virginia. It was a privilege to host the Regional and State Wrestling Tournaments and the Regional Basketball Tournament. No longer do we have to be visitors; we can be visited.

ORGANIZATIONS

Through the various organizations at Hayfield, students learn to be individuals as they search for a meaningful experience. They also become members of group endeavors and team efforts. There are leaders and followers; each with his own special place.

SCA

The Student Council Association, the SCA, under the leadership of the school president, Paul Juraschek, and the subschool presidents, Robert Evans, Phylliss Donley, Tom Payne, Steve Rantz, and Shelley Weeks, strove to make our school a complete and functioning whole. With the ratification of a Constitution, the chartering of several organizations, the setting up of a cabinet, and the sponsoring of many activities, the SCA has attained that goal.

Our school president, Paul Juraschek.

The intermediate subschools have worked hard this year to prove that they deserve an equal place in Hayfield. Through the magazine drive and other activities, they have shown that they are willing to work hard to ensure that the job gets done and done well. They have proved themselves not only as followers, but able leaders as well.

Madison Hall Representatives: Bottom Row: J. McDaniel, D. Clark, K. Gaffney, K. Whalen, S. Backstrom. Second Row: P.

Madison, Washington,

Being a new school apparently has not affected the operating efficiency of the newly formed S.C.A.'s sub-school. Each has contributed greatly to the variety of activities which occurred during the 69-70 school year. The sub-schools have worked hard in inventing new and different activities to set a tradition for future years and to keep in competition with the other subschools. With this steady competition and spirit arising within the school, who can predict what new activities will be on next year's schedule?

Washington Hall Representatives: Bottom Row: S. Trainor, M. Hunt, D. Roberts, T. Argis, M. Zablackas. Second Row: K. Cottingham, T. Rappleyea, S. Uhlfelder. Third Row: C. Schnabel, M. Murphy, F. Farwell, L. Heard, M. Shields.

Yearbook Room—Scene of Constant Confusion

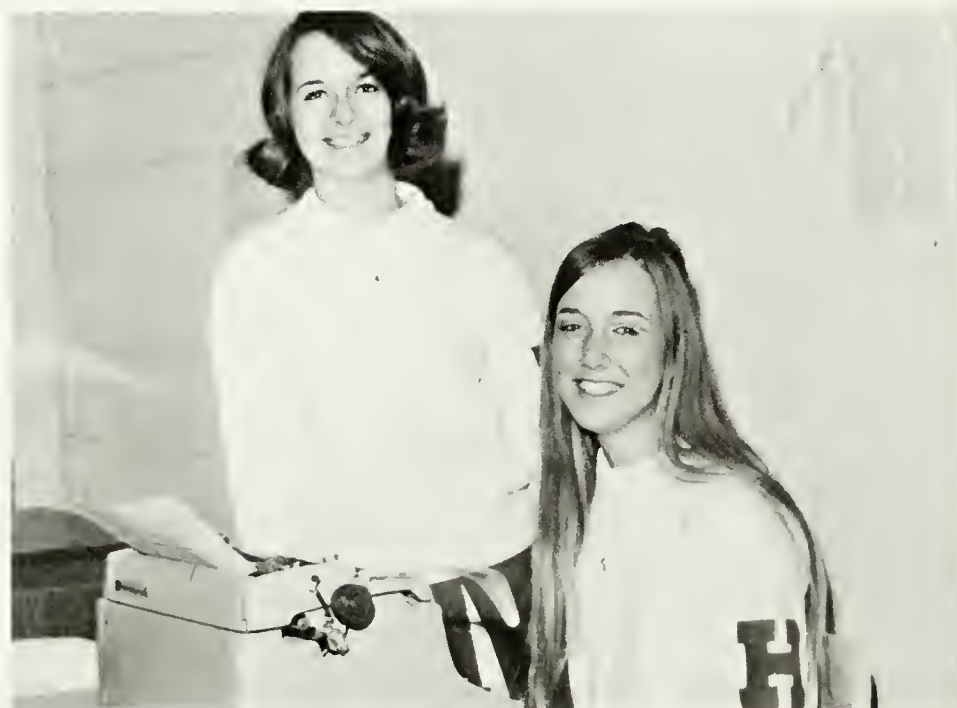

Photographers: T. Payne, E. Collins.

The Harvester Staff was fortunate this year to obtain its own camera and strobe unit, and most important, a yearbook room. However, the staff suffered the usual problems. They had difficulty identifying pictures, writing copy, thinking of headlines and captions, and getting everything in order for the deadlines. Co-editors Betsy Reeder and Ed Collins, and sponsors Mrs. Thomason and Mr. Mason, together with the rest of the yearbook staff, went through a great deal of turmoil and torture to produce a yearbook that reflects student life at Hayfield during the 1969-70 school year.

Heritage Staff Keeps Students Informed

Co-Editors, Mindy Killen and Jan Blair, with the cooperation of the rest of the Heritage staff and sponsor, Miss Batten, have succeeded in publishing a number of informative newspapers this year. The main objectives of any high school newspaper are to promote communication between the students, the faculty, and the administration, and to inform all of any newsworthy event. The 1969-70 Heritage staff has concentrated its efforts upon attaining these goals.

Creative Writing Club Publishes "Reflections"

The Creative Writing Club recognized outstanding artistic and literary talent this year through the first publication of Hayfield's literary magazine, "Reflections". Under the capable leadership of President, Elizabeth Stoffelen, and Sponsor, Mrs. Smith, the club endeavored to represent the creativity of Hayfield High-Intermediate students through their essays, poems, stories, and art work.

Debate and Math Teams Compete

The Debate Club spent a great deal of time this year in preparation for their debates on the question "Resolved: Congress should prohibit unilateral military intervention in foreign affairs." The club's purpose was to expand each debator's knowledge of the two sides of the issue and to enable him to debate from either side regardless of personal viewpoint. Through debating, the teams have achieved these objectives and have learned the importance of the spoken word.

Hayfield's Math Team represented the school in academic competition and promoted mathematical proficiency. Under the direction of Mr. Edie and team captain, Tom Bunch, the Math Team devoted long hours to developing the skills of accuracy and skill necessary for competition.

STUDIO THEATER

Clubs Examine

The Studio Theater had a productive year despite their lack of an auditorium and the need to build all of their own equipment. This year, the theater presented excellent performances of "Sandbox", "The Clown Prince of Wanderlust", "Animal Farm", and "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown."

The Drama Club was organized on the premise that it would be a springboard into the high school Studio Theater for all those interested in theatrical performances.

The Shakespearean Club was formed to advance the understanding and appreciation of the literary art of William Shakespeare, to foster genuine intellectual curiosity, and to prepare members for further studies of Shakespeare.

The Intermediate Science Club began the year by visiting the planetarium to probe into the mysteries of the universe. The club also welcomed guest speakers, including a herpetologist who gave an interesting speech and showed the club some snakes.

To explore the many aspects of science, the High School Science Club took field trips to the Coast Guard Radio Station, a water company, the Smithsonian Institute, and Dulles Radio Tower. The club also planted flowers in the Senior Court for Hayfield's first Seniors next year.

The Saddle and Spur Club was made up of students interested in horses, and desiring deeper understanding of the techniques of horseback riding.

Under the leadership of Mr. Nelson, the Choral Department had a very successful year. At Football Games

This year, under the direction of Mr. Moore, the High School Band developed, and was able to serve the school and community in many ways. The band participated in all home football games as a pep band, played for the Halloween parade at Hayfield Farms, and entered the Band Festival at West Springfield on March 14. The band also performed for the school's Christmas program and MADD festival, and presented a spring concert in May.

The Intermediate Band, under the leadership of Mr. Charnock, also progressed greatly, and had a very successful and productive year.

The cheerleaders sold victory tags, decorated the halls and goal posts, and sold programs at the games. But most important, the cheerleaders fulfilled the responsibility of representing Hayfield at all times.

Drum and Sandal Tryouts Held

Hayfield's modern dance organization, the Drum and Sandal, was re-organized in September for the 1969-70 school term. Try-outs were held, and a panel of four teachers selected the organization's new members. The girls, and occasionally a few boys, worked on routines combining ballet and modern jazz dancing.

Under the guidance of Mr. Singleton, and the assistance of Miss Batten, the members exercised and danced to both jazz music and the songs of today. Although the work was hard, it was enjoyable, and all members had a feeling of accomplishment after perfecting a routine.

Keyettes and Tri-Hi-Y Serve School and Community

With the motto, "We Serve", the Keyettes had a high standard to maintain. Soon after inducting its first members on October 3rd, they collected money for UNICEF and sponsored the Uglyman Contest. Kim Davies, the winner, and the other participants raised money for later Keyette projects, such as Christmas Eve entertainment for soldiers and a Christmas card in the library. The Keyettes also conducted a Valentine delivery service and in conjunction of the National Service Project of helping American Indians, sold posters.

The members of the Tri-Hi-Y promoted communication between the community and the school. Their motto states, "To create, maintain, extend, throughout the home, school, and community, high standards of Christian living." The Tri-Hi-Y revealed this motto in such projects as a fashion show, a Halloween party for exceptional children, and through obtaining secret pals for the football players.

The many language clubs at Hayfield, with the exception of the French Honor Society, were open to any students taking a foreign language, who were interested in learning more about the language and the culture of the land in which it is spoken.

Sponsored by Miss Sullivan, the French Honor Society was for students in French 3 or higher who had an over-all B average and had received only A's in French since Level 1. Tutoring lower-level students who were having difficulties with French was the main activity of the French Honor Society during the year.

The American Field Service chapter at Hayfield is definitely an organization of the future. The first of its several long range plans is to provide homes for foreign AFS students returning to their native lands after completing a nationwide tour. In the fall of 1971, the club hopes to have a foreign student at Hayfield and a Hayfield student in a corresponding AFS member school. The AFS hopes that this exchange program will improve international relationships through understanding; the only way.

Even in a school operating without grade or class distinction, there are certain activities which must be conducted within a certain grade level. This year, the Junior Class Representatives planned such activities, which included the Ring Dance, Senior privileges, and the Prom.

Underclass

No student in Hayfield must ever be an island. We must all be unified as a continent. When we speak of unity, we speak of that concept of oneness in a complex such as Hayfield. The students must exert themselves toward this goal. The unification of Hayfield has been our endeavor this year. Through all facets of school life — clubs, sports, student governments, eating, working, playing — we have sought to make Hayfield a well-known school which we can be proud to attend.

Twinkle, twinkle little star — Laf'yette pres'dent is what I are.

Mr. Leggat's Lafayette Hall has been a busy one this year. President; Tom Payne, Vice-President; Debbie Gundling; Secretary; Bonnie Hernandez, and Treasurer; Ed Collins are striving to make Lafayette Hall the best sub-school that Hayfield High School has ever seen. It sponsored the Halloween dance "The Midnight Brew", and a "Task Day." Lafayette Hall has many plans for activities in the up-coming year. All the people involved in making Lafayette Hall an outstanding sub-school are doing an excellent job, and we know that they have lived up to the goals which they have set for themselves.

LAFAYETTE HALL

You'll get a bang out of this one.

MADISON HALL

Madison Hall SCA officers: Bottom row: Gail McHaffa, Treasurer; Kathi Gogan, Secretary; Second row: Laurie Maltese, Vice President; Steve Rantz, President.

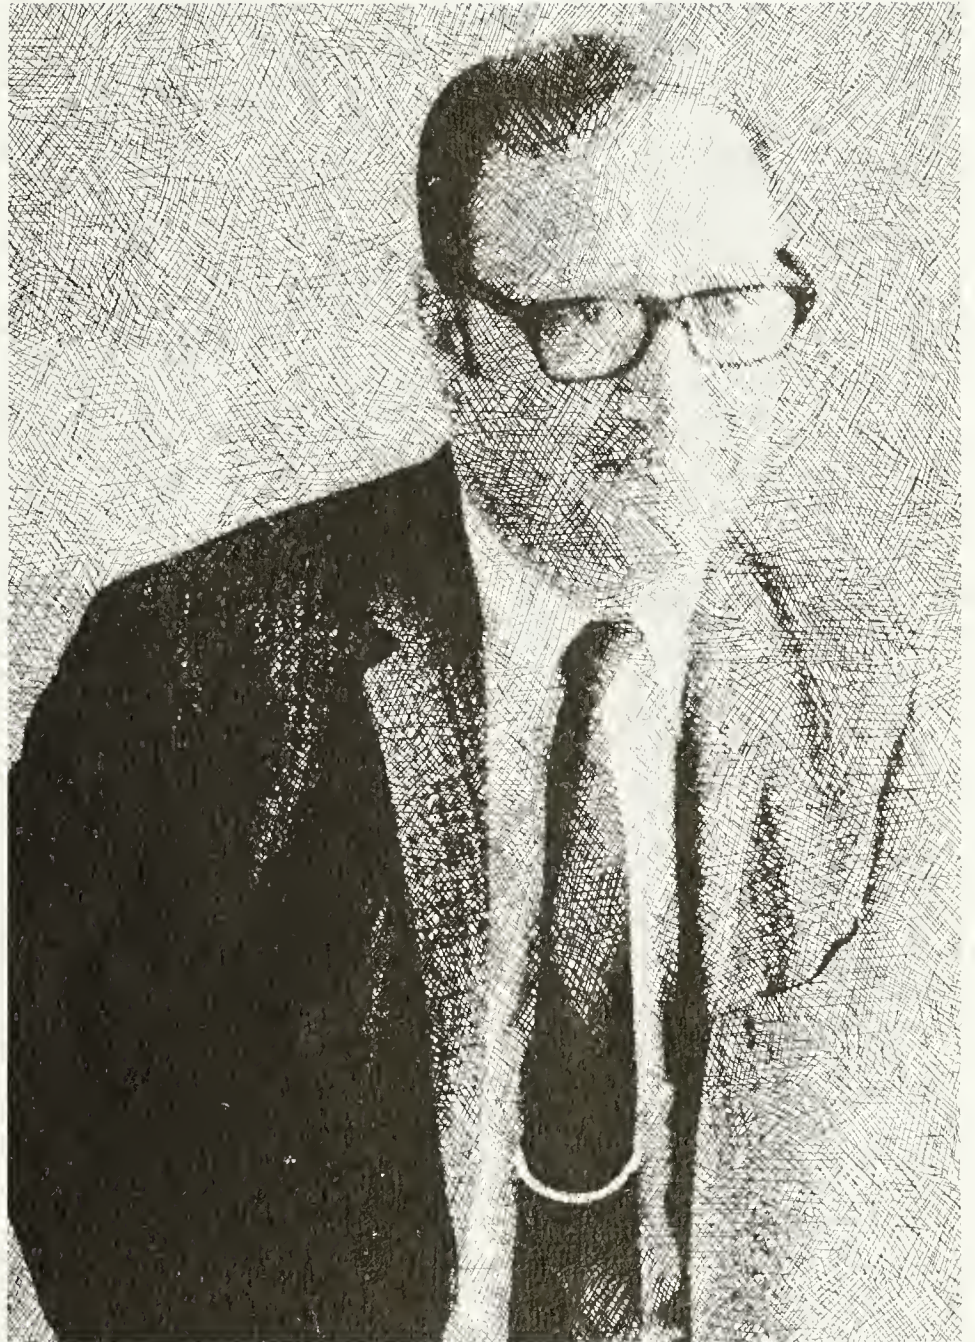

As principal, Mr. Puffenburger nose all.

On the outside, Madison Hall appears to be a sub-school of Hayfield in it's second year with about 500 students, its own principal, its own office, and its own guidance system. However, by looking deeper into this structure, it is readily seen to be a group which showed an active and competitive spirit throughout the school year.

The student government of Madison Hall worked tirelessly in fund-raising and promoting spirit in the entire student body of Hayfield. The money raised was used to improve and beautify their school. Many traditions have already been established by Madison Hall. This is true of the Slave Auction and Slave Day, Sadie Hawkins Week, and the Spring Fling. Spirit drives took place in the form of balloon and ribbon sales and colors day. Other activities of this year included the Harvest Hawk Hop, candy cane sale, and Madison Hall Week.

The students of Madison Hall were given every opportunity of a new and growing school. The faculty gave them modern methods of learning through Hayfield's magnificent facilities. They were also given guidance and many privileges. In return, the students of Madison Hall gave their time and energy to the growth and fame of Hayfield. They did this through participation in sports, clubs, drama and many other activities. Madison Hall students truly stood out in the endeavor to make Hayfield Number 1.

Miss Maguire works hard to aid Madison Hall students in the decisions they must make.

Mrs. Aiken always greets students with a smile when they come to her office for counseling.

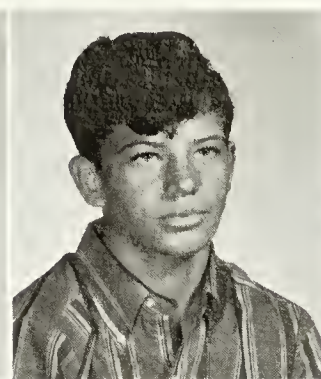

Mrs. Langford serves as Mona Lisa and secretary all wrapped up in one.

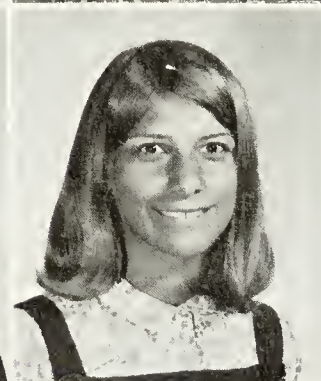

Madison Hall office assistants, Bottom row: G. Henderson, E. Hagstrom, N. Edge, D. Jones, D. Buglia, D. Woolbright; Second row: K. Martin, D. Fiebelkorn, P. Garcia, L. Mantiply, D. Taylor, S. Rantz.

Washington Newest Hall

Chuck Woodworth, Treasurer; Judy Rosenwasser, Secretary; Shelly Weeks, President; Trey Williams, Vice Pres.

The new sub-school, Washington Hall soon became an integral part of the Hayfield complex. The silence of its might was unknown as the hall sponsored a "Hush Day". "Is it a boy or a girl?" was the question on "Pants Day". Washington Hall continued to show its worth as it held "The Pilgrim's Prance". Even though it was a new hall, Washington climbed above the disadvantages of being on the bottom. It set an example that is going to be hard to surpass. Under the supervision of Mr. Warner and the leadership of Shelly Weeks, the officers planned many activities from which the whole school benefited.

MR. O

Fairfax Hall

Student involvement in co-curricular activities has been a primary objective in Fairfax Hall this year. We are especially fortunate in having enthusiastic, interested faculty members to advise and counsel students in their co-curricular activities. As a result of the size of our student body, close coordination and communication has been carefully maintained with various organizations within the school and community. Since co-curricular activities are learning experiences for students, techniques in leadership have been stressed through a combined effort of the Fairfax Hall faculty and the Student Cooperative Association. Helping a student discover and develop his ability as a leader and a responsible citizen is indeed an effort which is infinitely rewarding.

Jefferson; One Of the Best

Jefferson Hall, under their new principal, Dr. Tom Murray, and the able leadership of the president, Robert Evans, worked hard at making the students proud of their subschool. The students participated in the Magazine Drive and ranked high. They sponsored many spirit building activities and dances. The tradition of Jefferson Hall as an outstanding subschool has truly established this year.

FACULTY

The faculty has, with great determination, striven to present a relevant and meaningful program of study for all students. They have sought to instill in each of us a feeling of individuality and self-confidence along with a necessity for cooperation and a feeling of oneness. Through all of this, each faculty member has become an individual with a personality and techniques all his own. They have become participants in a united drive to procure for the students a more productive tomorrow.

"Like I really care!"

The English Department offers a literature-centered program that integrates composition and language study with the discussion of literature. Class, group, and individual reading provide a vehicle for discussion and composition; grammar is taught through the writing and speaking activities. A humanities approach, a multimedia program, individual study, and increased freedom of choice help to adapt the program to various ability levels and make it relevant to the needs and interests of students.

Mrs. Smith does her homework!

Science Department Offers

Although the Science Department has not discovered any new diseases, or cures, they have, under the direction of Mr. John Mooney, made several important advances. With the installation of closed-circuit television sets a wide variety of new teaching techniques have been developed. With superior equipment and facilities they have taken us far into outerspace in the planetarium, or to the depths of innerspace with microscopes and experiments in Chemistry and Physics. Hence, the Science Department as a team has united with the students to prepare us all for a better tomorrow.

Advantageous

Although through most of the year the Physical Education Department has been hampered by a lack of facilities, they have made great strides to overcome this handicap. With complete dedication they have provided a meaningful program. The corrective gymns were cramped into double duty as were halls and parking lots. But, now in our new gym, these are all things that seem to be of a time long past. We have only to look to the future in a gym large enough for each individual to do just that.

The Social Studies Department has employed some revolutionary tactics in order to produce a meaningful program. With the variety of courses offered, Dr. Murray, department chairman, has broadened our horizons in Social Studies and students leave this year with a better understanding of man.

ESG Department Offers Variety

In trying to bridge the gap between an elementary and a secondary school environment, the ESG Department has attempted to let each teacher really get to know his students by having them two periods instead of one each day. This situation was advantageous because it resulted in good student-teacher relationships and it enabled the teacher to coordinate the two subjects, English and History.

The Foreign Language Department began this year well equipped with all its new facilities and eager to begin. Under the direction of Mrs. Virginia Thomason, they have utilized all facilities to their fullest capability in providing all students a course in speaking a foreign language. Several pioneering programs have been instituted, including an elective language program for all intermediate students and a five year program starting in eighth grade. With this kind of initiative, unlimited opportunities unfold.

The Hayfield Business curriculum strives to give the depth and breadth needed to enable students to acquire marketable competencies in several business areas. The curriculum is designed to help develop a new approach to office occupations through job-centered training made up of integrated learning units.

Subjects taught this year are one hour courses in Introduction to Business and Typewriting I. Two hour block programs are offered in Clerk Typist I, Stenographic-Secretarial I, and Data Processing I. Several new Senior courses will be added next year.

Fine Arts Develops Creativity

"Now the way I see it . . ."

The Fine Arts Department has sponsored many activities in the creative field. With special cooperation between all facets of the Fine Arts, including Art, Drama, and Music, students have been provided with a wide range of studies on which to center their exploring interests. This department also sponsored the MADD festival in April combining music, art, drama, and dance. Through this and several other projects, students have found their own individual talents.

Homemaking Skills Developed

Mrs. Elaine Creigh

Mrs. Sara Heaton

The Home Economics Department, under the supervision of Mrs. Elaine Creigh, has tried to instill in all girls a basic understanding of the homemaking skills. It has tried to present opportunities that the girls might not have, otherwise. In sewing classes, skills range from sewing a simple apron in the seventh grade to making a tailored wool suit and coat in the eleventh grade. However, the department has not been idle in the field of cookery. Students progress to gourmet cooking by eleventh grade, and turkey dinner was served to the administration at Thanksgiving, compliments of the Home Economics Department.

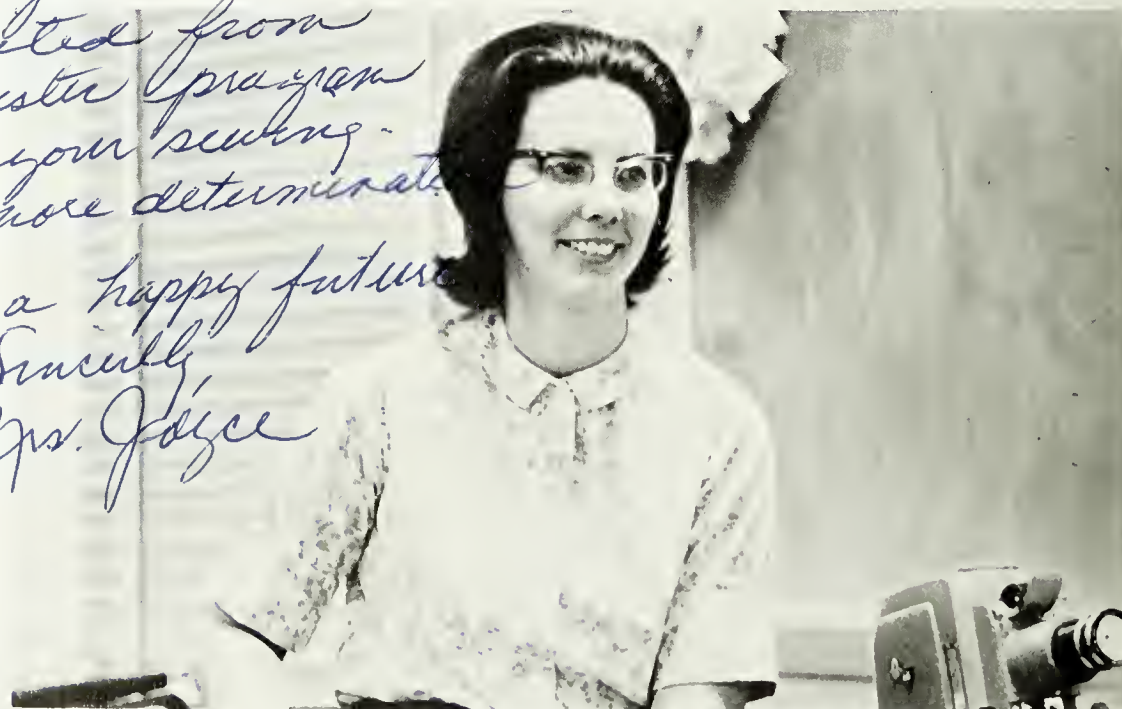

Debbie,
I hope you

you need more determination.
I wish you a happy future.

Reading And Special Education

"Would you believe my finger is stuck?"

With great determination, the Reading and Special Education teachers have worked to provide all students with equal opportunities at Hayfield. With the new facilities in the Media Center, this ideal has become a reality. Using the listening centers and a special room equipped with audio visual provisions and small classes, this department has done a job that might otherwise have been impossible.

Mr. Floyd W. Worley, Principal

Mr. Floyd Worley's task has, perhaps, been harder this year in that it was his problem to unite five sub-schools under one roof. He has worked hard to erase the imaginary line between intermediate and high school. This job could not be accomplished without the full support of the faculty and student body. The support is not always as easy to secure as it might seem, but with sound logic and a little gentle persuasion, Mr. Worley has helped to make us well on our way to reaching the destination of being one.

One of Mr. Worley's less tedious moments.

Hi!

What's happening? You are a real good friend (hope you stay that way). Remember the slumber parties (sleepy head Debbie). Remember who you are & what you are on earth for. God be with you & keep you all your life.

Keep your window open to ~~Jesus~~ Jerusalem. If you are ever in trouble call on God. ~~He~~ He is always there.

At this point in a yearbook there is a group of people that probably belong in the front, not the back. It is the advertisers and patrons. Without these individuals a yearbook would not be possible, or at least not economically feasible. This group deserves our deepest gratitude.

10 Debbie,

Love Yeh.

A black and white photograph of a landscape. In the foreground, there is a body of water reflecting the sky. Behind the water is a dense line of bare trees. To the right, a large, dark, conical evergreen tree stands out. The sky is bright and overcast. The text is overlaid on the right side of the image, centered vertically.

I
am not whole,
only
a part;
a unit of the aggregate.
I have strength;
not of myself,
but by my partnership
with mankind.
I strive;
labour as an exclusive entity, but toward a common goal; an allied enterprise.
I lead;
provide the initial ambition,
but we persist with passion in a confederate adventure.
Together, I am.

To Debbie, a good girl and ex-girl friend, Gary Davis

Without the invaluable assistance of the following individuals we could not have attained even this small measure of success. In the rush of meeting deadlines and the frenzied click of shutters they are inadvertently overlooked. We would like to take this final opportunity to express our gratitude to:

Mr. Theodore Pascoe, representative of National School Studios, for the formal underclass portraits and organizations formals.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Marler for their excellent help in all photography problems whenever they occur.

The Hunter Publishing Company and their representative, Mr. James Ellis for their unsurpassed technical guidance.

Mrs. Virginia Thomason for her unreserved contribution of her time and of herself as we strove to produce a book which we could say in all honesty was totally ours.
